THE BRITISH COLONIST.

Thursday Morning, Jan. 16, 1868.

Mr. Harnett's Lecture.

The audience was by no means so large as it ought to have been, or perhaps would have been, but for the snow storm which set in about an hour before the time appointed. However, we doubt whether any man ever drew a more cultivated and appreciative audience together in Victoria. Among the most prominent persons present we observed His Lordship the Bishop, the Chief Justice, Flag Lieut. Brookes (representing the Admiral) and other naval officers, Drs. Tolmie and Helmcken, Rev. T. Somerville, Messrs. Shepherd and Ward (Bank Managers), Mr. Pearce, Assistant Surveyor General; Messrs. Burnaby, Green, Franklin, Findlay; in fact, the very cream of our intelligence and wealth.

Precisely at 8 o'clock the Mayor introduced Mr. Harnett, who was warmly received. After a few preface remarks, he begged the indulgence of his hearers, because it was almost impossible to make a lecture on mining matters interesting except to those engaged in it, or to those in business immediately connected with it. In this case, however, he thought he might safely calculate on that indulgence, for the immediate improvement of the Colony and all its business relations, were certainly dependent upon an improvement in the mines. Thus self-interest would secure an attention which the subject itself might not excite. In his opinion there was not a man in the Colony independent of the mining interests, or who could afford to treat them with indifference; for, so far as the present generation is concerned, without final success in the mines, there could be no success in business elsewhere. Thus the real prospect of the mines was a question of the gravest importance, involving the existence of every colonist. Now it was to learn the truth in this matter that he had traveled over the whole country last summer, and he hoped seventeen years' mining experience in California, with the mineral formation of which country he was thoroughly conversant, would enable him to judge truly, and in some measure justify the importance which, without his desire, had been attached to his opinions. What those opinions were, the country at large knew well; and he was here to-night to state distinctly and in detail the basis upon which they were formed. Two things were necessary to be understood thoroughly in this respect. First, the character of the mineral formation in general; next, the extent of the auriferous deposits. The lecturer here gave a scientific relation of the close analogy between the mineral formation of California and British Columbia, giving it as his honest and decided belief that the one was really a counterpart of the other. Having satisfied himself of this important fact, he had no doubt of the extent, richness and reliability of the gold fields, the principal of which were then illustrated by diagrams alike to the astonishment and satisfaction of the audience. The present and future history of William Creek, and its tributary gulches, draining the meadows, and the recent discoveries for twenty-six miles below Barkerville, as given by Mr. Harnett, took the audience by surprise, so enormous were the results predicted, and proved him to be a man of great mining experience and of great observation. His process of reasoning in these matters was very simple, and his conclusions were fully endorsed by the meeting, many of whom were Cariboo men themselves. It is not necessary for us to give the figures and details as furnished by the lecturer as they will soon be published in California, where no doubt they will do us immense good. Having finished William Creek, he then proceeded to Grouse, Antler, Keithley and Cedar Creeks, and the whole country from the Quenel River to the head of Shuswap Lake, embracing the Thompson and Fraser rivers—an immense territory—which he rapidly reviewed, and showed the whole to contain very rich auriferous deposits, which only required a little time and intelligent labor to bring into prominent notice. The most important truths elicited in this part of the lecture were the complete refutation to the mistake made at home and abroad, that William Creek constituted all of Cariboo that was valuable, and that Cariboo itself constituted the whole of our gold fields. This mistake, no doubt, has done us much injury, and we were pleased at the satisfactory and able manner in which this matter was put in its true light. Without depreciating Cariboo—to the miners of which he gave all praise—it was proven to be but a fraction of the gold-bearing territory, which when brought under the same intelligent and extensive system of mining prevailing in other countries, would make our annual yield almost equal to that of California and Australia. The facts which were so forcibly enforced upon the audience in proof of all this were loudly and repeatedly applauded.

Few men can make a lecture upon mining, interesting to a general audience, yet on this occasion a profound interest was kept up for two hours, to the last, the best compliment we can pay our earnest friend. The intelligence of the audience was appealed to and carried throughout. Upon the whole it may be considered one of the most important addresses delivered in this town for a long time, and the only losers were those who were not present. On Monday, the agricultural, commercial, geographical, and national interests and politics, will be taken up, when we may expect a far more popular and stirring address, and as this is the last time of Mr. Harnett's speaking in Victoria, we earnestly trust, as a reward of his great labors amongst us, the house will be crowded. Let every man who loves the land of his adoption make a point of attending.

Municipal Council.

The Council met on Tuesday evening, the 14th, at 7 1/2 o'clock. His Worship the Mayor in the Chair.

Councillors present—Lewis, Gibbs, Crump, Jeffrey and McKay.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

An account was presented from H. F. Heisterman, for rent, which was referred to Finance Committee.

A communication from the Tiger Fire Engine Co., giving notice of the election of Foreman, was read and ordered to be placed on file.

A communication from the Queen Charlotte Coal Co., asking for the use of room, was read and upon motion the application was granted.

The Finance Committee presented a statement as certified to by the auditors, of the cash receipts and disbursements, of the Corporation for the Municipal year, ending Nov. 7th 1867. Showing the gross receipts to have been.....$7,913 94

Disbursements..... 5,244 88
Paid outstanding indebtedness..... 2,490 31
Balance on hand..... 178 75

On motion of Councillor McKay, the report was adopted and a further sum of $20 was granted to the auditors.

Councillor Lewis submitted a plan drawn by Mohan & Farwell, for grading Johnson street, which was accepted and the sum of $30 voted for payment thereof.

Councillors Lewis, McKay and Gibbs were appointed a committee to draft By-laws for the Corporation.

Council adjourned to meet on Tuesday next, at the call of the Mayor.

BENEFIT OF THE ORPHANS.—The Amateur Dramatic performance, for the benefit of the orphans under the charge of the Sisters of St. Ann, has been set for the evening of the 4th of February. The institution is one of the worthiest—if not the worthiest in the city—and the object is one that appeals directly to the active sympathy of all. Everybody should take a ticket, whether he visit the theatre or stay at home.

"STILL WATERS RUN DEEP."—Many of our citizens who did not witness the performance of this admirable comedy on Tuesday evening, have expressed a desire to have it again performed, by the same efficient cast. The piece is one that will never grow old. We hope the management will accede to the popular wish at an early day.

THE RIVER.—A telegram from New Westminster yesterday to Capt. Swanson states that the ice was breaking up, weather mild, and that three tides would clear the river. It was therefore decided not to send the Enterprise up until to-morrow, when it is hoped she will be able to reach New Westminster.

ALHAMBRA MUSIC HALL.—A select performance for ladies and children will be given this evening, by the efficient troupe attached to the Music Hall. The entertainment will be first-class, and a full house should reward the exertions of the enterprising management.

SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS.—The Washington Territory Legislative Council, by an unanimous vote, have removed their Speaker, and by a majority vote, their clerk, from office. The reason for this summary proceeding is not stated.

The Supreme Court will sit again next Wednesday, for the trial of causes.

In the communication of "J. D. P." yesterday, for "$70,000," read "$700,000."

If you are suffering from an attack of the blues, and tonics and stimulants have failed to restore the wanted buoyancy of your spirits, just call on Cleal and try one of his superb lunches.

THE NEXT STEAMER.—A dispatch to Mr. W. T. Welker, agent for the steamship company, received yesterday, states that the Deje Norte will leave on Tuesday next for this port. She will come into this harbor.

PETITION.—A petition praying for the pardon of Tomlinson, convicted at the last Assizes of a felonious assault upon Jacob Marks, is in circulation.

The only case before the Police Court yesterday was that of an assault upon a Klutchee, by a Siwash, which was remanded for one day.

The flag over the American Consulate was at half-mast yesterday, as a mark of respect to the memory of Major General Steele, U. S. A.

The steam launch from H. M. S. Zealous, with the Admiral on board, came round yesterday morning.

Briefness [Barristers.]

(From the Imperial Review.)

To a considerable extent legal business is becoming a monopoly in the hands of a class. Formerly a great social distinction existed between barristers and solicitors, but absolutely no such distinction now exists. It was thought in the highest degree decorous for a barrister to make advances to a solicitor. The fledgling barrister sat in modest awe, palpitating for a proposal. To vary the image, the legal Houris wondered to whom the Sultan of a solicitor would throw the handkerchief. Theoretically, at least, and to a great extent practically, this high etiquette is maintained. In the mean time, however, the friends of barristers bring heavy pressure to bear upon solicitors in the matter of the disposal of their briefs. In the mean time, also, solicitors have reduced their patronage to a special system of their own. A legal firm with a lucrative business sends the son or relative of some leading member to the bar, and is able, in the legitimate course of business, even though his abilities are mediocre, to put a good professional income in his way. One of the most approved methods for a barrister to get into practice is, to marry the daughter of a solicitor. This kind of arrangement is now fully recognised. The lawyer may not be able to give his son-in-law a sum of money, but he can promise him business to the extent of $500 a year; that is, he pays him in kind—receives him on what are called terms of reciprocity. It is not at all a bad way for getting on at the bar to marry a solicitor's daughter.

But let us see how all this works for our briefless friends. He cannot marry the daughter of the only influential solicitor he knows even though he is to be paid for it. He has no legal connection. He has simply entered a most honourable and ancient profession, relying on his character, culture, and ability. At first he is greatly impressed with the owl like wisdom of the wig and gown. There is a pleasing excitement and variety in going circuit, in joining a brilliant mess, in gathering up the wit and stories of the court. He probably sees something of local society, and hopes that he will some day distinguish himself in the eyes that rain down sweet influence. He perhaps owns to himself, after a time, that there is a depressing monotony in that average fifty pound note which going circuit costs him. Once it was thought a great thing to attend sessions by way of making business, but sessions are not now for barristers what they once were. Once it was held that a barrister might get business by affecting to busy—by having a blue bag filled with papers, and many books and documents to consult; but this is now esteemed a baseless legend. Perhaps he becomes cynical. He thinks that Buzfuz (Serjeant) talked 'utter bosh' in opening Mrs. Bardell's case; that Spinks, Q. C., did not do half as well as he could have done in cross-examining that tough witness; and even that Starling (C. J.) got rather muddled in the issue which he left to the jury. Perhaps he thinks that its 'dogged that does it,' and elects a Westminster court to which he will regularly attend. He beguiles much time by taking portraits, profile and full face, of such men as Buzfuz (Serjeant), Spinks, Q. C., and Starling (C. J.). Finally, he perhaps takes himself to literature, or to some other downward path that leads to professional perdition. In Mr. Burgon's interesting life of Tytler, the historian, we find that, being the son of a well known judge, he had a considerable practice at the Scotch criminal bar; but when the writers found that he was becoming known as an author, his practice quickly forsook him. The late Mr. Justice Talford was a successful barrister and successful author, and—save the mark—a poet. Such a phenomenon is abnormal enough, and recalls the black swan, or rather the albatross that blossoms but once in a hundred years.

We confess that we think our friends Mr. Briefless and Mr. Dunup have been rather hardly dealt by. Every man ought to have a fair chance, and we cannot see that they have had theirs. But we will forget the case of individuals in the larger consideration which brieflessness opens up. Two considerations occur to us which may be very concisely stated. If the bar degenerates into a class profession which hardly gives independent men a chance, then there is a danger that independent men will not get to the bar, and that it will seriously fall off in efficiency and its general standard. Secondly, solicitors should consider that every man is a doctor to his profession, and should not only seek their own ends, but do what they can to promote the efficiency of the legal profession—an end which they will promote if they give unknown men a chance. To the briefless themselves there are certainly not wanting topics of consolation. They see a great deal of life and character. They have abundant space of time for meditation. They have the fairest opportunity for exercising that finest of virtues, patience. They have generally some means of their own—healthy, hope, fine tastes, energy, and culture. In the season of fruition they will perhaps desiderate the period of hope; in the sea on of oppressive business, the period of leisure. Leisure is, after all, the main aim and prize of life, and those who can use it well, though they may be briefless, will not, in the long run and in the best sense, be unsuccessful.

It is gratifying to observe, from the tone of late Canadian journals, that a feeling of confidence is gradually assuming the place of the distrust with which the Act of Confederation was at first regarded by the minority, and to note the fact that most of the prominent and able anti-Confederation leaders have decided to assist rather than obstruct the movements of the Macdonald Government. At a recent meeting of the House of Commons we find Mr. Howe of Nova Scotia—one of the ablest statesmen in the Dominion—the gentleman to whom was assigned, by tacit consent, the position of Leader of the Opposition in the House of Commons—rising in his place to declare that “the question of supporting or sustaining the Government did not enter into any of the late political contests of Nova Scotia; that if good measures were brought up he would support them—if bad measures, he would oppose them, without regard to the source from which they emanated. The result of the elections in Nova Scotia had shown, however, that the people of that province are not in favor of Confederation; and such being his belief he would take his seat in the body of the House as an independent member.” This remark forced up Dr. Tupper—the only Conservative in the House from Nova Scotia—who denied distinctly that the issue of Confederation had been put to the people of Nova Scotia at the polls; and declared that Mr. Howe, on the hustings, had promised to give the new system of Government a fair trial, as did all the members elected at the same time in that province, while the only candidate who had declared an intention of opposing Union was defeated. Two other honorable members from Nova Scotia followed Dr. Tupper, both of whom acknowledged that the people of that province were not so much opposed to Confederation as they were to the way it was brought around; and Mr. Smith, of New Brunswick, said: “Having fought the battle he was now willing to lay down arms, accept the situation, and lend his assistance to make the new constitution successful. He came here unpledged, but was willing to give it a fair trial, and would judge the Ministry on their merits, irrespective of party.” From these remarks it would appear that the grievance of which Nova Scotia has to complain is an imaginary rather than a real one. The Legislature of the province, which was Confederation in sentiment, ratified the Act of Confederation without first having submitted it to the popular vote. Her quarrel, therefore, is not with the Constitution or with the Government of the Dominion, but with the men whom she had chosen to represent her in her own local Legislature. Had the issue been sent to the people for ratification we entertain not the shadow of a doubt that it would have received the popular endorsement. We believe the Nova Scotians are even now heart and soul in favor of the new system, and that her public men but speak the truth when they assert it is the mode and not the act with which they find fault. The self-love of the Nova Scotians has been damaged. They feel that a slight was put upon them by their representatives; but have they not punished those representatives for their temerity? Have they not, in the most emphatic and decided manner, entered their protest against the mode in which they were brought into the Confederation? What more, then, can they ask? Their representatives walk into the Dominion Parliament, hang their hats on the pegs and take the seats assigned them. Would they do so if the province that sent them had instructed them to oppose Confederation? Their very appearance in the hall proves that they have “accepted the situation.” If Mr. Howe believed that the Act of Confederation is unconstitutional, so far as his province is concerned, he would have declined to take his seat; and if Nova Scotia has been “illegally entrapped into the Confederation,” why should Mr. Howe, by his presence and his vote, endorse and confirm the illegal act? No declaration can be fairer than that made by Mr. Howe in promising to “accept good measures and to oppose bad ones.” The most ardent admirer of the Macdonald administration could ask no greater concession from an opponent. Mr. Howe virtually extends the olive branch to the Macdonald Government. He casts his lot and that of his province with the Confederacy. He declines to magnify a local grievance into a national wrong by shifting the scene of the strife from Halifax to Ottawa. As we understand Mr. Howe, he is a man of too much ability, shrewdness and patriotism to allow himself to be placed in a position of antagonism to a good system of government simply because the amor proprio of his constituents was affected by the political turpitude of those whom they had placed in power, and for whose mistakes they, and not the Confederacy were alone responsible.

EXTRAORDINARY SCENE IN A STEWARTON CHURCH.—On the afternoon of Sabbath, Oct. 20th, the congregational church of Stewarton was the scene of a most unusual and unseemly disturbance. It appears that the principal pastor, the Rev. Robert Smith, has incurred the displeasure of a considerable portion of the congregation by the attitude assumed by him towards his assistant, the Rev. Mr. Irving, a young man, who seems to be held by them in high esteem, and who is presently under call from the Independent Congregation at Dregdon. The grounds of the ill-feeling we do not understand fully, but we believe Mr. Smith is adverse to a colleague being set beside him, and some time ago announced his determination to withdraw a subscription of $20 per annum, which he had given to assist in defraying his coadjutor's salary. At the close of the afternoon service on Sabbath, the members of the church were requested to remain and hear certain intimations affecting Mr. Irving's position. After these had been given one or two of the members rose and vigorously protested against the course pursued by Mr. Smith, and after some rather hot conversation, the reverend gentleman retreated to the vestry amidst the hisses of the disaffected members of his flock.

TREASON NEVER PROSPERS.—There is no doubt that Head Centre Stephens is in Paris, and in anything but a flourishing condition. The officer from Scotland-yard who holds the warrant for his apprehension, during a three weeks' stay at the Exhibition, frequently met Stephens at a table d'hôte, and conversed with him, each man knowing to whom he was talking. Stephens alluded to a statement which had gone the rounds of the English papers, which set forth that he had “feathered his nest” out of the Fenian funds with which he had been entrusted. “Wrong entirely,” Stephens said, “I haven't a cent—am indebted to a friend for what I shall pay for this meal, who has also advanced me as much cash as will pay for advertising for employment as a teacher of English.” The officer took the trouble to inquire into the truth of what Stephens told him, and in doing so discovered that he had been turned out of two lodgings for want of money to pay his way.

French Medicines,
PREPARED BY GRIMAULT & CO.
Chemists to H.I.P. Prince Napoleon,
PARIS.

These different medicines represent the most recent medical discoveries, founded on the principles of Chemistry and Therapeutics. They must not be confounded with secret or quack medicines, as their names sufficiently indicate their composition; a circumstance which has caused them to be appreciated and prescribed by the Faculty in the whole world. They widely differ from those numerous medicines advertised in the public papers as able to cure every possible disease, as they are applicable only to but a very few complaints. The most stringent laws exist in France with regard to the sale of medical preparations, and only those which have undergone an examination by the Academy of Medicine and have been proved efficacious, either in the hospitals or in the practice of the first medical men, are authorized by the Government. This fact must be a guarantee for the excellence of Messrs. Grimault & Co.'s Medicines.

NO MORE COD LIVER OIL!
Grimault's Syrup of Iodized Horse Radish.
This medicine has been administered with the utmost success in the Hospitals of Paris. It is a perfect substitute for Cod Liver Oil, and has been found most beneficial in Diseases of the Chest, Scrofula, Lymphatic Disorders, Green Sickness, Muscular Atrophy, and Loss of Appetite. It regenerates the constitution in purifying the blood, it being the most powerful depurative known. It has also been applied with happy results in Diseases of the Skin. LAST NIGHT'S DESPATCHES.

Eastern States.

CHICAGO, Jan. 13.—Large popular meetings are being held throughout the north, invoking Congress to take steps for the protection of naturalized citizens and declare the Monroe doctrine in reference to the principles of allegiance.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 13.—In the House Ford offered a joint resolution declaring the policy of the United States with reference to recognizing the belligerent rights of hostile nations. It declares that whenever twelve months have elapsed without the renewal of hostilities, the United States will consider war ended and will renew the relations of peace.

Wilson, from the Judiciary Committee, reported back to the Senate the bill requiring the concurrence of two-thirds of the judges of the Supreme Court to decide a law of Congress to be unconstitutional. Bill passed.

Chile.

NEW YORK, Jan. 13.—The Herald's special from Santiago says taxes are insupportable. House owners are abandoning their estates and small farmers are giving up the cultivation of the soil; robberies and burglaries are unparalleled.

Europe.

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Edward Thornton, Minister to Washington, sailed yesterday. Telegrams from Aden announce the arrival of Sir Robert Napier, who immediately left for Senape, to place himself at the head of the Abyssinian expedition.

Warwick jail, where the Fenians are confined, is occupied by troops to prevent an attempt at rescue.

FLORENCE, Jan. 12.—The adjourned session of Parliament was resumed yesterday. Menabrea made a speech exhorting the members to unite with the Government in resisting revolution and upholding the national credit as well as the liberty of the nation. No reference whatever was made to the Roman question or of the relations of Italy to foreign powers.

The Paris Moniteur contradicts the rumors of popular disturbances at Naples, and assures its readers that perfect tranquility prevails in that city and surrounding provinces.

DUBLIN, Jan. 12.—Papers from the person of the prisoner Lannan are said to expose the whole plans of the Fenian leaders for future operations in Ireland.

VIENNA, Jan. 12.—Dispatches from the south indicate that the Porte is about to pursue a liberal policy.

Second Despatch

California.

SAN FRANCISCO, 15th.—Brevet-Major Gen. Steele, formerly commander of Department of Columbia, died at San Mateo, of apoplexy, last Sunday. His funeral was largely attended to-day.

Europe.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 15th.—Official advices state that the Cretans refuse all overtures from Turkey and insist on the expulsion of the invaders.

LIVERPOOL, Dec. 14th.—The ship Northern Belle, from Liverpool to New York, founded at sea Nov. 16th. All on board were saved.

PARIS, Jan. 14th.—La Liberte says that France and Austria sent a joint note to Serbia concerning that Government's extraordinary military preparations which are being carried on in that country. Lord Stanley, in behalf of Great Britain, addressed a similar communication to the Serbian Government.

LONDON, Jan. 14.—The employees of the Telegraph Company in Belfast, recently arrested on suspicion of Fenianism, have been discharged.

PARIS, Jan. 13.—General Faily, commander of the Expeditionary Corps, has asked the Emperor to permit the return of the French troops to Rome. Their quarters at Civita Vecchia are overcrowded. This ominous request created a general feeling of uneasiness and distrust.

VIENNA, Jan. 14.—Government is preparing to reduce the numbers and expense of the standing army.

The Debats, French semi-official journal, asserts that negotiations are going on between France and Italy for a new treaty to displace the September convention, and that it is rapidly progressing and is now nearly concluded.

St. Petersburg, Jan. 14.—The official organ denies that the British Cabinet protested against the alleged intrigues of a Russian agent to Roumania.

FLORENCE, Jan. 14.—Italy is the first European power to recognize the restoration of the Mexican republic. Sonora Sochevasso is appointed its minister to Mexico, and will proceed thither immediately.

Eastern States.

RICHMOND, Jan. 14.—Articles abolishing slavery forever, and declaring that Virginia shall be and forever remain a part of the Union, were adopted.

CHICAGO, Jan. 14.—The Ohio Senate yesterday passed the House resolution rescinding the resolution ratifying the constitutional amendment.

Thurman has been elected United States Senator.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 14.—A resolution not to sustain the President's suspension of Stanton was passed by 35 to 6. Great excitement prevails. The Reconstruction bill will probably pass to-day under the previous question. Grant has yielded his portfolio to Stanton, and the President has taken no action.

The impression now is that Johnson will not recognize Stanton, but will transmit all business through the headquarters of the army. Stirring events are momentarily looked for.

Holbrook introduced a bill granting aid to construct a railroad and telegraph line from the Union Pacific road through Idaho via Portland to Puget Sound.

Heywood's New Sugar-Cured Hams and Breakfast Bacon.

HEYWOOD'S PORK SAUSAGE.

ELIXIR OF LIFE—Mr Heywood, of the Yorkshire Market, has commenced for the season to make his celebrated Pork Sausage, manufactured from the very best of Island fed Pork—clean and pure as the snow that fell on Diana's lap—Oh, get out! Everybody buys them, because they are good. No mind, be sure and make no mistake; it is in the fire-proof Brick Store, next door to the Old Original Coffee Stand.

WE MAY BE HAPPY YET.—Those amongst us who are philosophers enough to think so, and imagine that they see the hopeful cloud "about the size of a man's hand," hovering over us, will certainly be confirmed in their belief if they step into T. N. Hibben & Co's bookstore and see the variety of attractive, useful and handsome souvenirs in anticipation of the coming Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

AUSTRALIAN HOTEL AND WATER CURE ESTABLISHMENT.—Mr Seeley has furnished rooms with single and double beds and parlors, for the accommodation of Families and Invalids, with or without board, who may enjoy the benefits of the Sea Water Baths connected with the establishment. Hot Cold or Tepid Sulphur Baths. 1m

FRED PAYNE has removed his Cheap Shaving Shop to the opposite side of Johnson's, just above the Miner's Saloon.

If you wish the very best CABINET PHOTOGRAPHS, you must call on BRADLEY & ROLFSON, 429 Montgomery street, San Francisco.
